

Sinergie IJM has been accepted for inclusion in Scopus

Good news from our journal

As a result of its internationalization strategy, Sinergie Italian Journal of Management, a few months ago, has applied for inclusion in the Scopus database. We are thrilled to confirm that the evaluation process conducted by the Scopus Content Selection & Advisory Board has been completed. The outcome has been positive, and Sinergie Italian Journal of Management has been accepted for inclusion. It means that the official journal of SIMA will soon enter Scopus, the largest worldwide database of scientific journals.

Our gratitude goes to all those who contributed to this recognition, which will consolidate the SIMA community's visibility and the reputation of Italian management scholars worldwide.

Stay tuned! More to come about Sinergie international development!